BIENNALE ARCHITETTURA 2021

As it was for everyone, the 2020 was the year of Covid-19 also for La Biennale di Venezia, but we like to remember the great show of strength the Institution managed to muster by turning to its own resources and putting into play its extraordinary ability to react to the unforeseen and the unthinkable, also thanks to the fundamental collaboration with national and local Authorities. We open the Giardini and Arsenale with an even greater awareness of just how much the work of La Biennale mirrors the contemporary world, which is here interpreted and sometimes foreshadowed by the proposals put forward by the curators and those who participate with their own work. The query in the title How will we live together? has largely been seen as prophetic, and came well before the pandemic. 126 years of La Biennale history demonstrates how its contemporaneity goes well beyond the forms of art it represents, welcoming the teaching, thought, and provocation of artists from every corner of the world. There are those who do not consider Architecture an art, or who at most define it an 'applied art'. Architecture, however, just like other artistic expressions, finds its raison d'être in the profound ties it shares with life and society, when, through creative synthesis, it is able to represent all aspects of human living.

Roberto Cicutto
President of La Biennale di Venezia

How will we live together?

The theme of this Biennale Architettura is its title and the title is an open question.

How: Speaks to practical approaches and concrete solutions, highlighting the primacy of problem-solving in architectural thinking.

Will: Signals looking toward the future but also seeking vision and determination, drawing from the power of the architectural imaginary.

We: Is first person plural and thus inclusive of other peoples, of other species, appealing to a more empathetic understanding of architecture.

Live: Means not simply to exist but to thrive, to flourish, to inhabit, and to express life, tapping into architecture's inherent optimism.

Together: Implies collectives, commons, universal values, highlighting architecture as a collective form and a form of collective expression.

?: Indicates an open question, not a rhetorical one, looking for (many) answers, celebrating the plurality of values in and through architecture.

We are asking architects this question because we believe they have the ability to present more inspiring answers than politics has been thus far offering in much of the world.

We are asking architects because we, as architects, are preoccupied with shaping the spaces in which people live together and because we frequently imagine these settings differently than do the social norms that dictate them.

Hashim Sarkis
Curator of the 17th International Architecture Exhibition

GENERAL SAFETY ANTI COVID-19 MEASURES FOR BIENNALE ARCHITETTURA 2021*

La Biennale di Venezia is following the evolution of the ongoing Coronavirus health emergency with the greatest attention and, in accordance with the competent authorities, has prepared an anti-Covid-19.

Temperature checking

The main accesses of Arsenale and Giardini Exhibition area, is equipped with thermo scanners measuring temperature of the visitors before entering the premises. According to the Anti Covid-19 protocols, no one having 37.5°C or more as temperature must be allowed to enter.

Hands Sanitation

Visitors have to use hydroalcoholic solutions for washing hands, before entering the Exhibition venue.

Compulsory Masks

Masks have to be used during the visit and in all indoor and outdoor spaces.

Social distancing inside the venues

A protocol implying social distancing is in place for all activities: walk-in installations, meetings and seminars, bookshop, bar and restaurants etc. This reduces the number of visitors allowed inside the exhibition venues in order to guarantee the safe distance needed. Inside the venues and during the visit people have to keep the social distancing defined in at least 1 meter.

Entrance and exit

All the venues hosting the International Exhibition, the Collateral Events and all the National Pavilions guarantee a separate entrance and exit system. There is a one-way exhibition route to minimize the possible clustering and gathering of visitors. In particular the Arsenale entrance is at Calle della Tana and the exit at Giardino delle Vergini, by means of Ponte dei Pensieri.

Tracing access and ticketing reservation

Ticketing to visit the Exhibition is exclusively online, in order to avoid queues and gathering of people. All visitors are traced inside the venue. The visit to the exhibition requests the reservation of the ticket and the access to the venue is guaranteed to a limited number of visitors. The reservation procedure and the number of visitors is defined by La Biennale referring to the characteristics of the exhibition venue, the dimension of the internal routes, presence of accessible installation etc.

How will we play together?

How we play together as children prepares us for the challenge of coexistence. The grounds of Forte Marghera feature a 'Children's Biennale' consisting of several projects under the subtheme of How Will We Play Together? Here the Biennale Architettura 2021 presents five strategies to expand bodily experience, rehearse domestic spaces, reinvent communal rules of games, elevate transgressive play, and reintroduce natural phenomena into the space of play.

Hashim Sarkis
Curator of 17th International Architecture Exhibition

PROGETTO SPECIALE PADIGLIONE DELLE ARTI APPLICATE THREE BRITISH MOSQUES

Responding to the theme How will we live together? this display – curated by Christopher Turner and Ella Kilgallon – marks the fifth year of the Victoria and Albert Museum's collaboration with La Biennale di Venezia and will explore contemporary multiculturalism through three adapted mosque spaces in London. The Brick Lane mosque, a former Protestant chapel then Synagogue; Old Kent Road mosque housed in a former pub; and Harrow Central mosque, a purpose-built space that sits next door to the converted terraced house it used to occupy.

EMBODIED ACTION THREE COLLABORATIONS BETWEEN BIENNALE DANZA AND BIENNALE ARCHITETTURA (23.07 – 1.08)

From Vitruvian man, the ideal measure of all things, to the contemporary dancer, subject and object of increasingly integrated knowledge, dance achieves a natural understanding with architecture. Thus, this year, the Biennale Danza will intersect with the places and times of the Biennale Architettura. With the installations NOT ONCE, TOM and FUTURE SELF which will be shown inside the Exhibition for the duration of the Festival under the title Embodied Action. And with the dancers-choreographers from the Biennale College, who – under the mentorship of Wayne McGregor – will create short choreographic fragments, “snapshots” or “sketches” inspired by the signs, materials, content and themes of the 17th International Architecture Exhibition. Their solo performances – Solos in Biennale Architettura – will be presented at the Arsenale in the section of the Exhibition titled Among Diverse Beings.

As Wayne McGregor writes: “The three works, although distinct and surprising in their individual expansions of body as space, space as body, all speak to the central question of How will we live together? Interaction, dialogue, sharing and connection – communication as the heart of our experience, our most basic human need. The dynamic interplay between our motivations, what we want to express and exchange, how effectively we do that and how we ‘read’ and respond to the impulses of others, is a communication that sits primarily through and with the body. Today, our understanding of our bodies and the bodies of others is exploding in multiple dimensions, blurring with its once external environments, and augmented in a myriad of startling and perception-altering ways. We are learning how to communicate anew. And so too the dance, the art form where embodied action and physical empathy speaks beyond borders and often to universal truths”.
