

The Dauphine University Paris Executive Course in Wealth Management group will be visiting the Venice Biennale, in October for a three-day immersive experience. During their visit, they will tour the prestigious 60th International Art Exhibition, as well as explore various exhibitions showcased throughout the city. As part of the Biennale Sessions, they will attend exclusive talks led by prominent leaders in the art market. These sessions will cover topics such as art collecting, the Biennale's role in cultural diplomacy, the significance of national participation in the event, and an overview of the global art market, offering the group deep insights into the intersection of wealth management and contemporary art.
